

Going for the Gut

AtWell Staged Home is hired to assist in a kitchen makeover. Initial consultation reveals the options: facelift, refacing or total gut (if the price is right).

Susan works with kitchen designer for plan and pricing. Owners like the ideas and go for the gut. Finally, Susan assists with all aspects of the design and project management to ensure that finishes coordinate, add value and most important, meet the home owner's needs and desires.

At 87, this homeowner gets her first custom kitchen!

"I am thrilled with my new kitchen! It's beautiful and functional and turned out better than I ever could have imagined. Thank you so much for all of your help along the way.

You were professional and patient, you have good taste and you thought of things I never would have on my own, like opening the wall to the dining room and extending the tile through to the entry.

I didn't realize how many decisions and details were involved in a kitchen remodel, and I'm so thankful for your help and guidance along the way as you made this very large – and sometimes overwhelming project – go smoothly."
